

Reforged Rules Doc

How to Win

Reduce all of your opponents' Life Total to Zero.

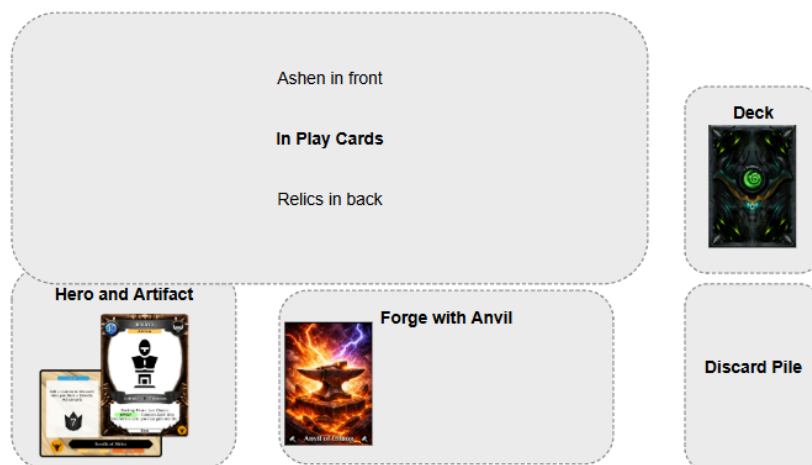

What Each Player needs to play

- Pre-built card deck (referred to the rest of this document as their Deck)
 - The deck includes any combination of Ashen, Relics and Spells. These cards must match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.
 - You must include at least one copy of each of your Hero's Starting Cards in your deck.
 - You can only have a maximum of 3 duplicates of any Non Legendary Cards in your deck
 - You can only have a maximum of 1 of any Legendary Card in your deck
 - Deck size has a minimum of 50 cards
 - No deck maximum beyond what you can shuffle efficiently by yourself
- 1 Hero Card
- 1 Quest Card
- 1 Anvil Card
- Dice or Counters for tracking Embers and Quest counters as well as Life Total

Game start

Each Player

- Places their Hero and Quest in front of them
- Places their Anvil in front of them separate from their Hero and Quest in a space now known as their Forge
- Sets their Life Total to the value on their Hero (30 is typical)
- Searches their deck for one copy of each of your Hero's starting cards (listed on the hero), reveals them to all players and places them in their hands
- Shuffles their deck
- Draw cards until they each have 8 cards in hand.

Decide who goes first by rolling a die. The player who rolled the highest value has the choice of going first or second. In the case of a tie, re-roll. The player(s) going second or later start with one Ember in their Forge. Player turns will rotate clockwise around the table.

On your turn

Beginning Phase: Gather Embers

Add 1 Ember for each card in your Forge to your Forge. Embers can be used to play cards from your hand or fuel various abilities. Embers in your Forge do not disappear until used.

Main Phase: Action Phase

Do any of the following in any order as you have the resources as often as you choose unless there is an explicit limit and as long as you have the resources to do so.

Fuel the Forge

This is the primary way that you will be acquiring the resources needed to defeat your opponent. To fuel the forge, place a card from your hand, face-down, "in your Forge". Whenever you place a card in your Forge, add one Ember to your Forge. On subsequent turns, this card will also produce an additional ember during the Gather Embers phase. Embers can be used to play cards from your hand or fuel various abilities. Embers do not disappear until used.

You may only Fuel the Forge once each turn.

Recruit Ashen

Ashen are the denizens of the world who are your allies or soldiers used in battle. To recruit an Ashen, remove a number of Embers from your Forge equal to the cost in the upper left corner of an Ashen card in your hand. Put the Ashen card onto the battlefield with Ember counters equal to the Power of the Ashen to represent the Ashen's health. An Ashen may not attack in the same turn it was recruited, but may use Abilities.

Discover Relics

Relics are objects of a time since gone, or new tools created to fight battles. To discover a Relic, remove a number of Embers from your Forge equal to the Cost in the upper left corner of a Relic card in your hand. You may only have one copy of each named relic under your control at any one time.

Cast Spells

Spells are the actions your hero takes to turn the tides of battle. To cast a spell, remove a number of Embers from your Forge equal to the cost in the upper left corner of a Spell card in your hand. Once you pay the cost, do what the Spell says. Once you are done following the text of the Spell, place the Spell in your Discard Pile.

Use Abilities

Abilities are powerful actions on your cards that you may choose to use for your advantage. For Relics, Quests and Heroes, remove a number of Embers from your Forge equal to the cost of the Ability. Abilities on cards may be used once per turn. In the case of Abilities on Ashen, the Embers must be removed from the Ashen, with the exception of the SOULBOND keyword, in which case you may spend Embers from your Hero or that Ashen.

Attack

Choose an friendly Ashen (one that you control) and an enemy Ashen or enemy Hero.

- If attacking an enemy, both your Ashen and that enemy deal damage to one another equal to their Power. Remove Embers from both of them equal to the damage each was dealt. Units with zero Embers are destroyed.
- If attacking an enemy Hero, your Ashen deals damage equal to their Power to the Hero. Reduce that player's life equal to the damage dealt. The enemy Hero does not do damage to the Ashen.

Ashen may only attack up to once per turn. Ashen cannot attack the same turn they were played unless they have BLITZ.

Special: Units with PROTECT must be attacked first before any other choices for attacking can be made.

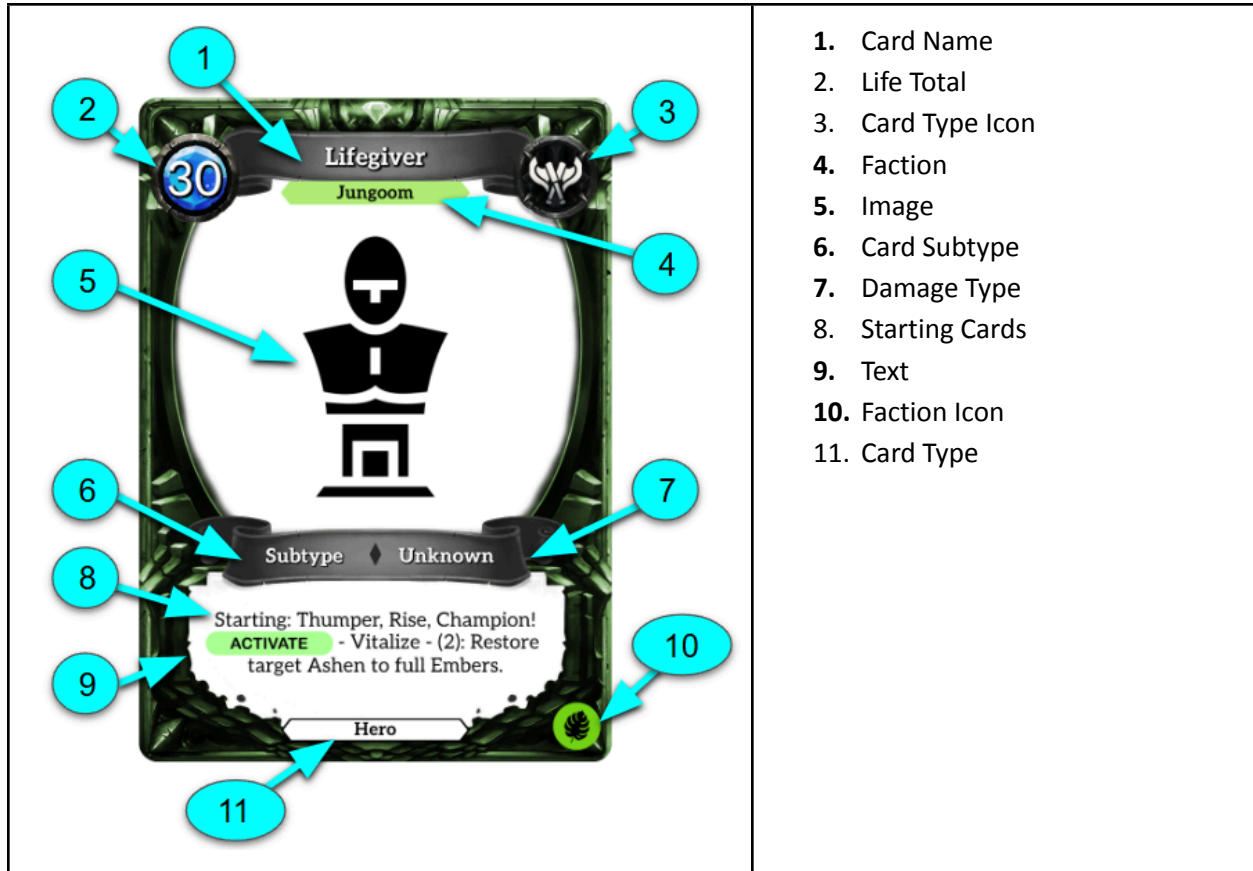

Final Phase: End of Turn

Draw a card to signify the end of your turn. Pass play to your opponent.

Card Type Descriptions

Heroes

Heroes are this world's champions fighting for their faction and causes. Building a deck, choosing your Hero is an important choice as you will always have access to them over the course of the game. They are not shuffled into your deck but are immediately in front of you ready for you to guide them through the upcoming conflict with the opponent.

Game Attributes of the Hero Card:

1. Card Name
 - a. The name of the Hero
2. Life Total
 - a. This number dictates your life total at the start of the game.
 - b. Typical value is 30
3. Card Type Icon
 - a. This is a symbolic representation of this card's Card Type
4. Faction
 - a. This is the group that this Hero is aligned with.

- b. Their Faction determines what cards can be in your deck as you may only play cards that either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.
- c. This Faction is who they and you are fighting for.

5. Image

- a. Visual representation of what the Hero looks like

6. Card Subtype

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

7. Damage Type

- a. Damage Type indicates one of the X elements this Hero is attuned to, and if any text from the Hero causes damage, is considered damage of this type.

8. Starting Cards

- a. These are the cards you start with in your starting hand before your deck is shuffled and you draw up to your starting hand size. These help you have some idea what type of game plan you have at least for the early game. You must have your Hero's starting cards in your deck and you must search for one copy of each for your starting hand.

9. Text

- a. Each Hero has some text that indicates some sort of advantage or strategy that they bring to the upcoming battle.
- b. This text can be any combination of Abilities or Effects.
 - i. Effects either happen all of the time or are triggered by certain events as specified in the text.
 - ii. Abilities are actions that may cost Embers from your Forge but can only be used once per turn.

10. Faction Icon

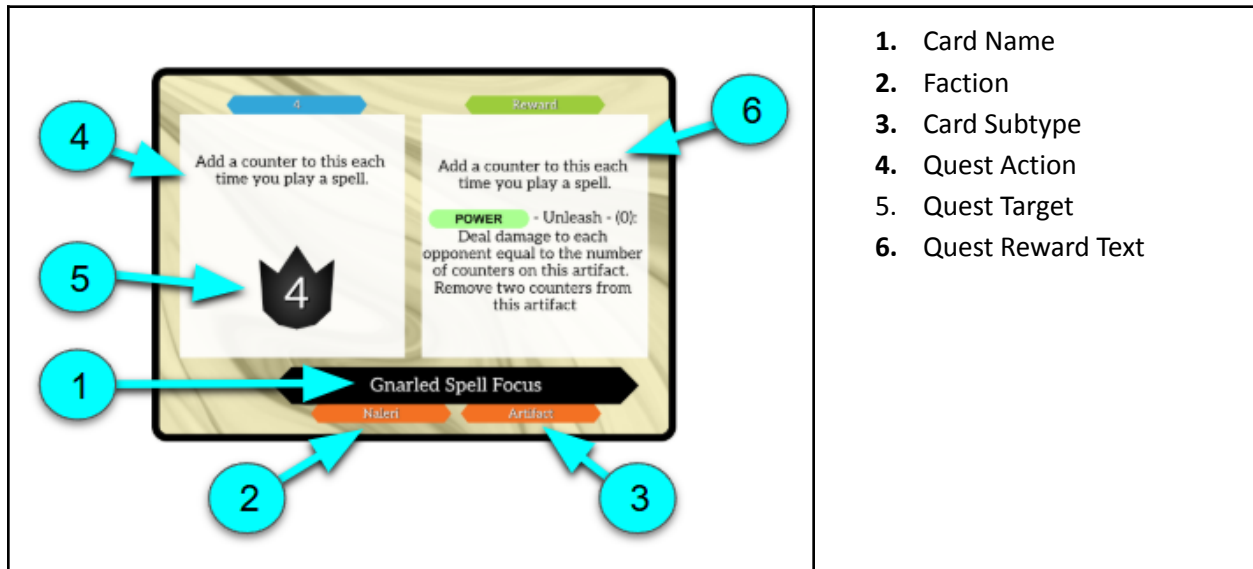

- a. This is a symbolic representation of the card's Faction

11. Card Type

- a. All Cards in Reforged have specific types.
- b. This type of card is Hero

Quests

Quests are a goal that each player starts the game with. Each of these require a tribute by asking the Hero and the player to follow a quest. Succeeding at the quest unlocks incredible abilities that may turn the tide of battle or even overwhelm your opponents as you claim victory.

Game Attributes of the Quest Card:

- 1. Card Name
 - a. The name of the Quest.
- 2. Faction
 - a. This is the group that your Quest originates from.
 - b. This Faction must either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.
- 3. Card Subtype
 - a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.
- 4. Quest Actions
 - a. Your Quest promises you great power but first you must prove yourself worthy.
 - b. Every time you perform the action outlined in this space, the Quest gains a Quest Counter.
- 5. Quest Target
 - a. This is the number of Quest Actions that you aim to perform to prove your worth to the Quest before you are endowed with the great reward and abilities it gives you.
- 6. Quest Reward Text
 - a. Upon meeting the conditions of the Quest, your Quest imbues with special traits that will help push you to victory.
 - b. This text is only active after you have accomplished the Quest.

Anvil

Your Anvil is you and your Hero's tool to gather Embers, the essential lifeblood of the magic of the Reforged world. Your Anvil's flame descends from the beings that defied the gods to return flame to the world. This is a precious resource that Heroes use to further the world for good, bad or indifferent. You start the game with access to your Anvil in an area in front of you that is called your Forge.

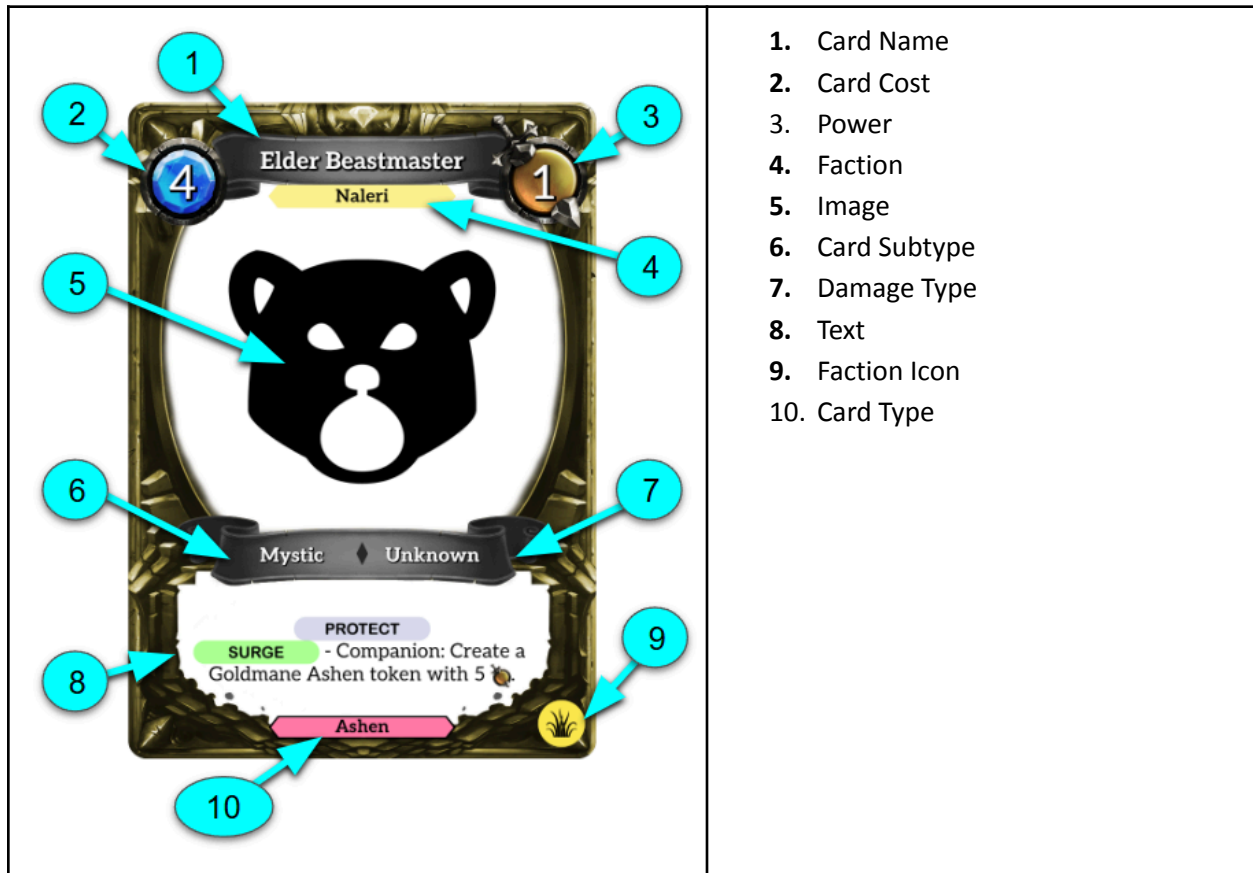

Game Attributes of the Anvil Card:

Alignment: In defiance of the Celestial Edict, the flame of creation was returned to humanity. Creation can be used towards many ends but they are generally aligned towards Chaos or Order. This Alignment determines what type of cards you are allowed in your deck during deck construction. This card shows who your Hero has aligned with.

By itself, the Anvil is the first card in your Forge that cannot be destroyed. The Anvil counts as a card in your Forge for the purposes of game text that count cards in your Forge. You will always be able to count on your Anvil to provide your Hero some Embers to mold for their own creations.

Ashen

Ashen are the beings you recruit to help you claim victory in your conflict against other Heroes. Attacking with Ashen is one of the most reliable ways to reduce Opposing Hero's Life Total to Zero, winning you the game. (Special Note:: the plural of Ashen is Ashen)

Game Attributes of the Ashen Card:

1. Card Name
 - a. The name of the Ashen
2. Card Cost
 - a. This number indicates the amount of Embers that must be removed from your Forge in order to put this Ashen into play
3. Power
 - a. When you play this Ashen from hand by paying their cost, place this number of Embers on this Ashen.
 - i. These Embers track how much damage this Ashen can take.
 - ii. Damage removes Embers
 - iii. An Ashen with no Embers is destroyed
 - b. This number also indicates the amount of Damage this Ashen does in attacks (regardless of the amount of Embers on it)

4. Faction

- a. This is the group that your Ashen originates from.
- b. This Faction must either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.

5. Image

- a. Visual representation of what the Ashen looks like

6. Card Subtype

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

7. Damage Type

- a. Damage Type indicates one of the X elements this Ashen deals damage be it in combat or using any of the abilities listed in its text.

8. Text

- a. The Text shares any combination of abilities that this Ashen has

9. Faction Icon

- a. This is a symbolic representation of the card's Faction

10. Card Type

- a. All Cards in Reforged have specific types.
- b. This type of card is Ashen

Relics

Relics are tools that your Hero uses to their advantage. Generally they create lasting change to the shape of the encounter until they are removed.

A hero may not play any Relic that shares a name with any Relic they already have in play.

1. Card Name

- a. The name of the Relic

2. Card Cost

- a. This number indicates the amount of Embers that must be removed from your Forge in order to put this Relic into play

3. Card Type Icon

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

4. Faction

- a. This is the group that this Relic originates from.
- b. This Faction must either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.

5. Image

- a. Visual representation of what the Relic looks like

6. Card Subtype

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

7. Damage Type

- a. Damage Type indicates one of the X elements this Relic deals damage using any of the abilities listed in its text.
- b. Even if no ability directly causes damage, this Relic is still attuned to that element

8. Text

- a. The Text shares any combination of abilities that this Relic has
- b. Relics typically have abilities that require the Relic to stay into play to accrue some sort of benefit turn after turn

9. Faction Icon

- a. This is a symbolic representation of the card's Faction

10. Card Type

- a. All Cards in Reforged have specific types.
- b. This type of card is Relic

Spells

Spells are powerful magics that the Heroes invoke to make an immediate change to the state of the battlefield. Spells once played do what they say on their text then disappear to the Discard Pile hopefully leaving the caster in a much better place than before.

1. Card Name

- a. The name of the Spell

2. Card Cost

- a. This number indicates the amount of Embers that must be removed from your Forge in order to play this Spell

3. Card Type Icon

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

4. Faction

- a. This is the group that your Spell originates from.
- b. This Faction must either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.

5. Image

- a. Visual representation of what the Spell looks like
- b. This type of image is likely more conceptual as spells are often more instantaneous effects

6. Card Subtype

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

7. Damage Type

- a. Damage Type indicates one of the X elements this Spell deals damage with
- b. Even if this Spell does not directly cause damage, this Spell is still attuned to that element

8. Text

- a. This field states what happens once this Spell is played.
- b. Once the full text has been executed, place this Spell in to the Discard Pile

9. Faction Icon

- a. This is a symbolic representation of the card's Faction

10. Card Type

- a. All Cards in Reforged have specific types.
- b. This type of card is Spell

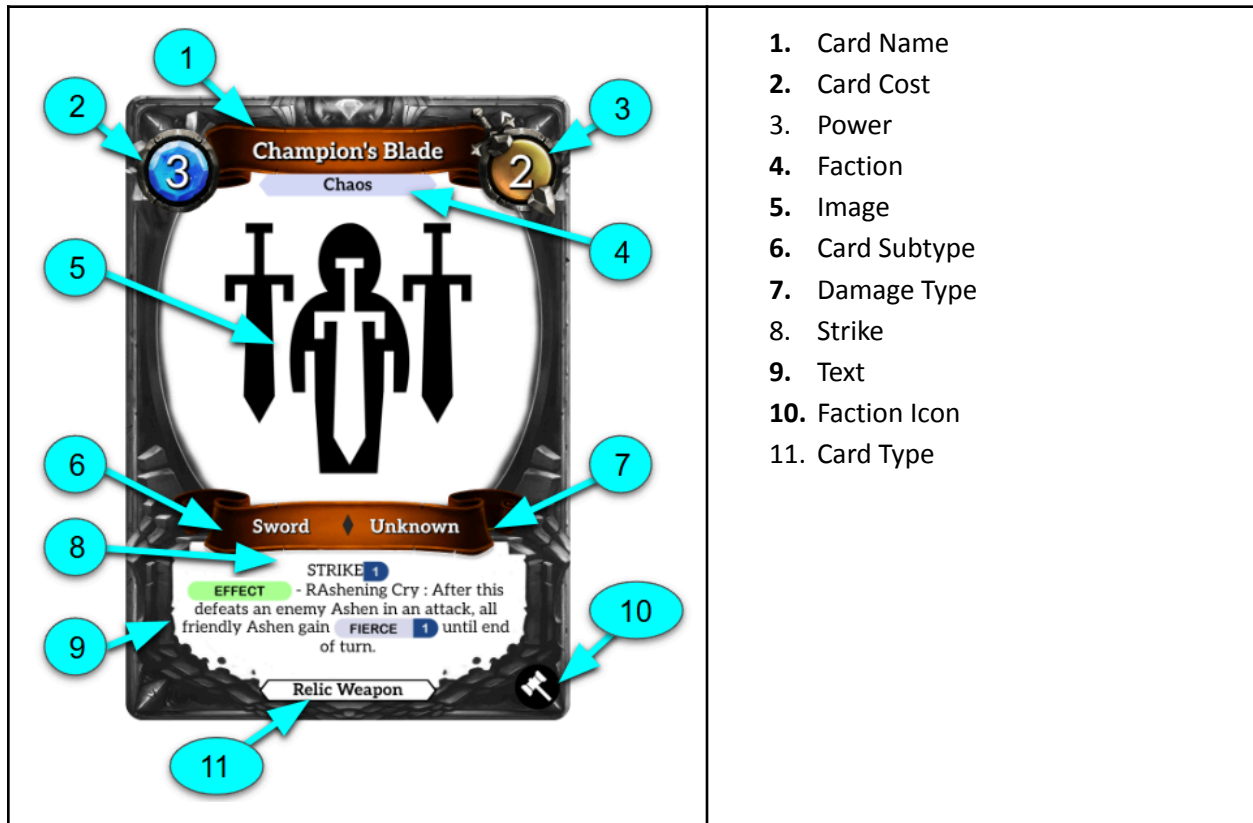

Relic Weapons

Relic Weapons are a subset of Relic cards. These tools empower your Hero to attack on their own.

A Hero may only have one Weapon in play at a time.

A Hero may only Strike with one Weapon a turn.

Note: Weapon does not do anything on defending from an attack.

Game Attributes of the Weapon Card:

1. Card Name
 - a. The name of the Weapon
2. Card Cost
 - a. This number indicates the amount of Embers that must be removed from your Forge in order to put this Weapon into play
3. Power
 - a. This number also indicates the amount of Damage this Weapon does in Strikes
4. Faction
 - a. This is the group that your Weapon originates from.
 - b. This Faction must either match your Hero's Faction or your Anvil's Alignment.
5. Image
 - a. Visual representation of what the Relic looks like
6. Card Type

- a. All Cards in Reforged have specific types.
- b. This type of card is Weapon

7. Card Subtype

- a. Cards have various groupings that ascribe synergy or aesthetic interest as to what they are.

8. Damage Type

- a. Damage Type indicates one of the X elements this Weapon deals damage be it in combat or using any of the abilities listed in its text.

9. Strike

- a. This describes the Ember cost for your Hero to use this to Strike an enemy Ashen or Hero.
- b. Strike works as an attack an attack does normally
 - i. If an opposing Ashen is chosen for the strike:
 - 1. Hero with Weapon and Ashen deal damage to one another.
 - 2. Ashen takes damage equal to the Hero's Weapon's Power which becomes embers removed
 - 3. Hero takes damage equal to the Ashen's Power which is taken as losing that much life.
 - ii. If an opposing Hero is chosen for the strike:
 - 1. Hero with Weapon deals damage to the chosen opposing Hero equal to the Hero's Weapons Power
 - 2. Opposing Hero loses life equal to that damage
- c. Strikes still follow the rules for Protect

10. Text

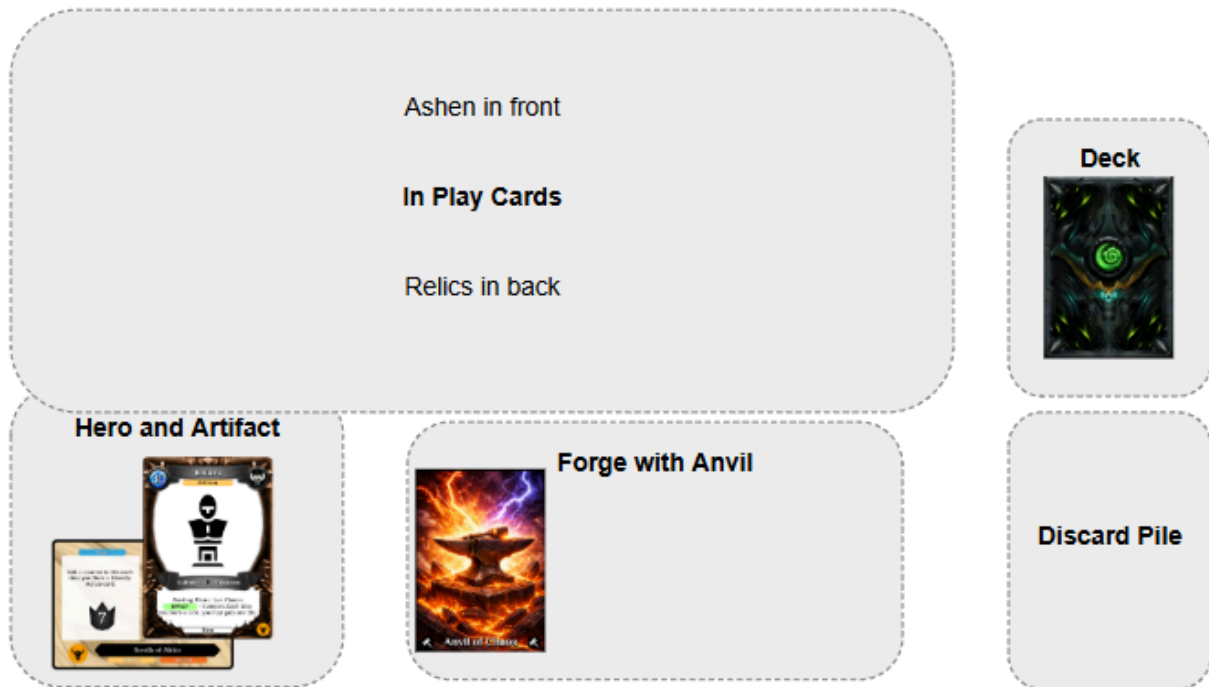

- a. The Text shares any combination of abilities that this Weapon has

11. Faction Icon

- a. This is a symbolic representation of the card's Faction

Gameplay Zones

(See example gameplay layout below. Players do not have to use this layout exactly if they are otherwise clear to other players what the game state is on their side.)

In Play

These are the cards that are in play. Unlike your Hero, Quest and cards in your Forge, these can be interacted with and destroyed more directly. This area will typically have any combination of Ashen and Relics.

Discard Pile

Discard Pile is public information and your opponents may ask you to share any information about the cards in there.

Note: Cards in discard are ordered based on how cards are discarded or are otherwise sent there. You may not reorder your discard pile.

Forge

A zone that each player has of their own that contains their Anvil and any resources added to it. The number of cards in this zone determine how many Embers a player adds to their Forge during the Gather Embers / Stoke phase of their turn.

Hero and Quest Area

This zone has your Hero and Quest that you start your game with.

Game Terms / Glossary

(More to be added. To theoretically be sorted alphabetically later)

Ember: Embers are the currency players use to pay to play their cards or use their abilities as well as track the status of their Ashen.. An Ashen with no Embers is immediately moved to that player's Discard Pile. Players gain Embers into their Forge which are tracked via any counter that is easily readable for all players such as dice. Embers in the Forge do not disappear until used. Embers on Ashen do not disappear until used such as with an Ability or removed via Damage.

Token Ashen: Token Ashen are tokens that represent additional combatants in the game. They work the same as Ashen. If a token Ashen moves out of play, it ceases to exist (i.e. a destroyed Token Ashen does not exist)

Example Token Ashen:

Keywords:

- PROTECT: This Ashen must be chosen for attacks before other Ashen.
- ELUSIVE: This Ashen can't be chosen for attacks.
- BLITZ: This Ashen may attack the turn it enters play.
- LIFESTEAL: Gain life equal to the damage this card does.
- ARMOR X: This card loses X less damage each turn.
- FERCE X: This card's power is increased by X in combat.
- WEAK X: This card's power is decreased by X in combat.
- SPITE X: Deal X damage to the opposing hero after this card is targeted by any card
- STEALTH: This Ashen ignores the PROTECT keyword on opposing cards.
- OVERWHELM: Damage this card does which is in excess of the original target's remaining Embers spills over to damage the hero.
- SOULBOND: Costs for the Abilities on this card may be paid from either the Ashen or the Hero. The cost of the Ability must be paid from a single source and may not be split.

Card Text Templating Terms

- Ability: An action which can be used only on your turn, once per turn. If the Ability has a cost, the Ember cost must be paid in Ember from the Hero's Forge or if the Ability is on an Ashen from the Ashen itself (Exception: Soulbound)
- Effect: Special text that is either constant affecting the state of the game or triggers based on certain conditions. This text may trigger on an opponent's turn.
- Afterglow: Triggers when this card enters the discard pile from play (Destroyed)
- Surge: When this card comes into play, do what is described by the rest of the ability marked by the word SURGE.
- Ignite: Triggers when a card enters your resource stack.

Other Game Terms:

- Destroy: Place the card from play into the discard pile. Any Embers are discarded.
- Cost: The number in the upper left hand corner of a card. This is the amount of energy you must spend to play the card.
- Power: The number in the upper right hand corner of an Ashen or Relic Weapon indicating how much damage it deals in combat.
- Damaged: An Ashen who has less energy than their cost.
- Bury: Place cards on the bottom of your deck. If you are placing multiple cards, shuffle them to randomize and place them without looking at the order.
- Friendly: This modifier refers to cards under your control.
- Enemy: This modifier refers to cards that are under your opponent's control

Lore Primer

Reforged Brief Lore Summary

(Note: All of this is open for changes. Purpose of this document is to put my thoughts for the flavor and lore of this setting into one easy place to share and discuss)

Fire is a great tool but if left unchecked, it will burn down everything, including what we all hold dear.

The world of Reforged is one that has seen great strife. In times of old there was a great conflict as the mechanations of the Gods almost brought an end to everything, including the Gods themselves. With one final appeal, a great cataclysm occurred to bury what one was. Humanity would be left alone, given all they need as penance for the trouble that was caused that history will not remember. The Gods decided to no longer intervene in this world.

However, plans went awry.

Chaos and Order were not content with this plan. They stole the ancient flame and passed it down to humanity once more. The Gods locked them away but the damage had been done. The fire had returned. Humanity would never be content with staying as they were. Their curiosity would always drive them to create, explore and challenge one another.

Heroes, blessed by the Flame, are now able to create once more. Taking up a tradition that is older than this new iteration of humanity, they take their Flame to the Forge. Echoes of Chaos or Order tempt them one way or the other but they create regardless. The world is new and the land shall be Reforged.

Fire is a great tool. Let us hope they use it wisely, lest history shall repeat.

From the idyllic lands that the Gods gave to humanity, people explored outward towards the unknown in all directions. They found adventure and excitement awaited them as well as signs of what the world once was. Quests in particular show them the potential of following the ancient ways.

The Heroes channel this Flame and use it to fuel their creations. The Flame itself is agnostic, just a tool for creation. It is the Hero's tradition (faction) and tools (anvil) that guide their works.

Factions:

Thaloryn

The Thaloryn Archipelago: Beyond the shores and uncharted seas are mysterious islands that hold great treasures. The Thaloryn people travel far using mighty Dragons to seek these forgotten relics of times gone by.

Mechanical themes: Relics Matter, Powers Matter, Dragons

Eldrik

The Peaks of Eldrik: Up in the forested mountainous region of Eldrik, the people are capable of fighting off that which goes bump in the night. Vampires and werewolves may frighten others but they are allies of the Eldrik people who are not afraid of a little sacrifice to accomplish what they need.

Mechanical themes: Sacrifice Ashen Matters, Sacrifice Life Matters, Lifegain Matters

Jungoom

The Wilds of Jungoom: The jungle region of Jungoom is filled with the largest creatures known to man, Dinosaurs. This would intimidate most but not those that follow the Jungoom way of life. They are friends to the Dinosaurs. Sometimes having the biggest bite or loudest roar is all one needs for dominance.

Mechanical themes: Big Creatures Matter, Dinosaurs

Ashkara

The Sands of Ashkara: Whispers of times gone by are more clearly heard in the desert area of Ashkara. Sifting through the sands, Ashkarans find exactly what they need to fight back. What once was old and decrepit is perfectly usable by their crafts.

Mechanical themes: Discard Matters, Discard Pile Matters, Afterglow Matters

Orilune

The Orilune Expanse: The bitter cold and harsh elements of the tundra of Orilune may dissuade most to venture there. However, those that call this place home find a kind of peace unmatched by anywhere. The stars seem closer which may make one feel small but huddled together they all feel connected to something greater.

Mechanical themes: Small Creature Swarm, Small Creature Buffs

Naleri

The Windswept Plains of Naleri: The wide expanse of the savannah region of Naleri drives its people to chase the horizon. The whispers in the grass teach these great people devastating incantations but there are some that prefer to stalk and hunt like the great beasts that live there.

Mechanical themes: Spells Matter, Embers on Ashen Matters, Combat Rewards